H. R. Seville Writes From Overseas

England, May 24, 1941

Crossfield Chronicle,
C. A. Marshall,
Crossfield, Alta.

Dear Sir:

Today another 'Chronicle' arrived. That makes six of them that have found their way to me. Please accept my sincere thanks for the news from the old home. It is good to read it, and it does bring back priceless memories of former days.

Today is Empire Day. The Capital is slightly disfigured since I first saw it, back in late '39, but one has to look for the disfiguring marks such as a street of houses laid flat, a gutted church or a blasted railway depot. If one does not look for the disfigurements, they are hardly noticed among the miles of blocks of dwellings or the huge factories, shops and stores, and there still seems to be quite as many towers and spires. There'll always be a London.

I have met Max Grant and R. C. Fenn since being in England. I think Fenn's name is missing from your Service list. When I saw him, about 15 months ago, he was a lance-corporal, Provost Coy, R.C.M.P.

All eyes are at present turned toward the Near East. Most of us in this regiment are eagerly awaiting the time when we will be able to share the avenging of the reverses suffered in France, Belgium, Norway and Greece. Then, not until—Hello, Canada!

If you would kindly print this letter and my address I would be very pleased, and I would appreciate a line or two from friends who would care to write.

Let me close by again thanking the publisher for his kindness and generosity in sending the Chronicle.

Sincerely,

H. R. Seville.

Prime Minister Menzies did not underestimate the sacrifice which will be necessary on the part of all members of the British family. But he stressed the fact that the goal of a free world was well worth the sacrifice.

The words of the Australian Prime Minister are more than words of encouragement and comfort. They are a challenge to the people of this Dominion from the highest official at Ottawa to the humblest citizen to put behind them all thoughts of personal, political, or parochial considerations, and to throw the whole weight of their resources, both material and spiritual, into the great cause of freedom.

From "Der Courier", German language weekly, Regina.

"And, in conclusion, a few words more to our German Canadians. Our public opinion condemns National Socialism but it does not condemn the true German culture of those who speak the German language. In time of war, this is possible only in a country that values and respects the freedom of its citizens. This is possible only in a truly democratic country like Canada. German-Canadians should therefore now show more gratitude than ever before and they should prove that they have wholeheartedly adopted the ideals of Canadian democracy. They should now march, shoulder to shoulder, with all other Canadians and should work for the welfare and preservation of this our Canada. This can be done by all, old and young alike. Those too old for military service should subscribe to the War Loan. Those fit for service should voluntarily join the ranks of our Canadian armed forces. This would be evident proof of our loyalty and devotion to our adopted country, Canada."

JAW BONES FROM RIBS

New noses, new cheek bones, new jaws, built up for the most part from the owner's ribs are among the achievements of plastic surgeons in Britain's hospitals today.

Although the heaviest air "blitz" kills or maims only a fraction of the total estimated before the Luftwaffe came, the proportion receiving facial injuries is high. Thirty years ago many of these mutilations would have been beyond remedy. Today the plastic surgeon can virtually restore most of the features to normality.

He will graft as much as a hundred square inches of skin from one part of the patient's body to another. A section of rib, six inches long, becomes a jawbone. A woman smiling to greet a friend does so thanks to the section of sciatic nerve that keeps normal a face which would have been permanently twisted by deep glass wounds.

Every week the surgeons of Britain are slowly and successfully rebuilding these features damaged by splinters and fragments of flying glass, wood and steel.

Dr. McKenzie is former legal advisor to the international labor office of the League of Nations, and he has travelled widely in Europe. Courses to be given include "Co-operative Principles in Modern Society", "Rural Sociology", "Dramatic", "Weaving and Design", "Modern Home Making", and "Home Floriculture". ### Line Elevator Exhibit

The North-West Line Elevators Association exhibit, now regarded as an institution at "B" class fairs, will be covering the circuit again this season. A class exhibition at Brandon, Calgary, and possibly Regina, will also be included. The central feature of this year's display will illustrate, by mechanical devices, the problem of controlling wind and water erosion of soil. Artificial dust and rain storms will illustrate the damage to soils from these causes. Adjacent to the damaged fields will be contrasting scenes showing the results obtained when control methods are applied. This portion of the exhibit will occupy the entire back section. On one end will be displays featuring production factors to include information on weeds, insects, plant diseases, and fertilizers. The other end will contain exhibits illustrating the production of grass and legume crops, the problem of grain miles in farm granaries, and the grading of grain.

Talking moving pictures will be shown in the exhibit as an added attraction.

This will be the fourth year in succession for The North-West Line Elevators Association exhibit to be shown at "B" class exhibitions. The purpose of the exhibit this year is identical with that of former years. That is, to present something which it is hoped will be both informative and entertaining to farmers and their families spending a holiday at the fair. You are cordially invited to visit our exhibit.

Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, July 7 to 12

A most interesting and thrilling presentation of Western sports, coupled with a splendid display of Alberta's resources, will take place at the 56th annual Calgary Exhibition and Stampede to be held July 7 to 12. The events of the week include a representative display of agricultural implements and high quality livestock; industrial, art, photographic and domestic exhibits and dog show, while the livestock review and parade of livestock exhibits will be staged on Friday morning of that week. This feature annually attracts large crowds.

In 1940 the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede was enjoyed by a quarter of a million patrons, and judging from inquiries from the United States, it is expected that a larger number than ever will visit the Stampede this year, and at the same time pay a visit to Canada's famous mountain playgrounds, thus having a worthwhile visit and take advantage of the favorable exchange rates.

Running horse races each of the six days, and the afternoon events leading to the North American and Canadian championships, as well as a gorgeous stage revue entitled "Music on Wings" are daily attractions that seem to bring the people back year after year. Championships are awarded for bucking horse riding; calf roping; steer decorating; wild steer and wild horse riding; wild cow milking; Indian races and the famous chuck wagon races each day. The Indian Camp on the Exhibition Ground is a source of interest to visitors, and the outstanding feature of the Calgary Stampede is Canada's largest and most spectacular fireworks display on Monday and Saturday nights. Included in Saturday night's program is a display of gorgeously dressed Indians.

The Stampede opens on the Monday morning, with a magnificent street parade and over 50,000 people pack the route of the parade each year to see and hear the many bands and gorgeous floats that add to the color of the opening day.

Livestock entries are heavier this year in all sections. Shorthorns and Herefords and a good number of Angus. There will be cattle from Ontario to give the Westerners competition. In dairy breeds there will be entries from herds that have National fame in sections for Holsteins, Ayrshires and Jerseys, and as usual there is a good list of entries of light horses and particularly good entries from the breeders of heavy horses. Sheep and hog entries are about as usual.

Platform attractions of outstanding merit have been secured and will round out evening shows. The midway this year will be "all Canadian" and in this section will be found many new, interesting and attractive thrills.

President T. A. Hornbrook and General Manager Chas. Yule feel that with information already to hand, everything points to a very successful summer show again this year.

POTATO BEETLES

The Colorado Potato Beetle which was so destructive in 1940 has again begun to make its appearance.

This is the highly arched, oval beetle, with its wing covers decorated with ten alternate yellow and black bands.

The adults winter over in the soil or in trash and lay clusters of orange-colored eggs on potato plants in the spring. These hatch into gaudily marked red and black grub-like larvae which, with the adults, undertake to devour potato and tomato plants. There are two generations per year so they may continue to do damage from now until late August.

The potato beetle can be readily destroyed with a poison dust made of one part of arsenate of lime to ten parts of hydrated lime, or one part of paris green to fifteen parts of the hydrated lime. The dust will adhere to the leaf surface better if applied when the foliage is wet from dew or rain, and will be more effective on that account. A cheese cloth bag of the dust held over the plants and tapped with a stick makes an efficient method of dusting plants for beetle control, as in this way practically all the leaf surface can be covered thoroughly.

If a spray is preferred, five teaspoonfuls of the arsenate of lime or two of paris green to forty gallons of water will suffice.

Poison as soon as half of the eggs in the first clusters are hatched and weekly thereafter as required.

At Home

For The Army

The army invites the general public to visit its barracks and training centres on ARMY DAY, Saturday, June 28th.

A Dominion wide visitors' day for the army has been proclaimed for next Saturday and every camp from coast to coast will welcome visitors who want to see what goes on in these training centres for the young manhood of Canada.

Relatives and friends will undoubtedly take this opportunity to visit their boys who are training and the general public is cordially invited to come and see the progress that is being made in Canada's war effort.

This is more than an opportunity. It is a duty that every loyal Canadian owes to himself and his country—the duty of taking a vital interest in these great defense preparations and of the important work that is being done in Canada to help make the world safe for democracy.

Note the date—Army Day, Saturday, June 28th. All day.

Here is a general view of Beirut, Syrian capital, expected to fall to the British and Free French forces any hour. It is in this area that British bombers have smashed oil wells and wrought heavy damage to strategic points. The splendid harbor facilities are clearly portrayed here.
